

LIW | Leadership, not just leaders

Michael Harris
Associate Consultant
michael.harris@liw3.com

Michael is Professional Facilitator and Coach who has over 25 years' of experience as a trainer and facilitator within the leadership and sales performance disciplines. His specialisation is in skills and people development within the corporate environment. He has worked with multiple industries, and has extensive experience across the Asia Pacific region.

Michael is passionate about adult learning and development. He uses his effective coaching, facilitation and feedback skills to encourage individuals to take responsibility for enriching their lives and creating impact in whatever they do.

He has fulfilled full time leadership roles that have encompassed selling, training delivery and management of HR and training teams.

Since 1999 Michael has worked independently and has partnered with organisations on multiple leadership and sales implementations. He has worked with Leadership teams at all levels in a diverse range of organisations. More recently this work has focused on mid-level leaders, creating awareness of the critical role they play in creating a line of sight and connecting their teams to strategic goals.

Currently located in Singapore, Michael continues his work with Leaders from around Asia and most recently Africa, using virtual platforms to deliver coaching outcomes which support Leaders through challenging times.

Accredited in DiSC, MBTI and Hogan assessment tools, Michael is also a member of the Australian Institute of Managers and Leaders and Institute of Learning Professionals.

Mini Bio

- Founder and Director of a sales/leadership consulting company
- Head of client services for an international training company

Qualifications

- Diplomas in Business, Leadership and Management
- Certificate IV in Workplace Training and Assessment (Australia)
- Certification in Executive
- Coaching (Institute of Coaching and Consulting Psychology, Sydney University)