

LIW | Leadership, not just leaders

Kim E. Hansen

Associate Consultant

kim.hansen@liw3.com

Kim possesses a strong background in organizational, leadership and professional development through her experience in numerous leadership roles at Fortune 500, global high-tech companies, and her work with a global leadership consultancy firm. She facilitated leadership excellence and professional development through the use of innovative assessments, trainings, and one-on-one coaching. As a consultant, she designed and facilitated business strategy meetings, team development, and community events.

In her coaching practice, Kim works with value driven leaders and high achieving individuals in career/life transition. As a coach, Kim provides structure, guidance, support and accountability to co-design strategies to create positive change for her clients. Her skilful listening leads to deeper levels of insight that gives her client an enhanced ability to attain meaningful objectives within their professional and personal environments.

Kim holds a Masters in Organizational Development from Sonoma State University. Her coach certification is through Academy of Leadership Coaching and Neuro-Linguistic Programming (NLP).

In her leadership and development roles in the biotech industry, she led global change management projects, designed and facilitated leadership programs and professional development training, assessed high potentials' leadership competencies through assessment, role play and simulations, and provided leadership coaching to managers and high potentials.

Mini Bio

- Innovative talent and organizational development professional with extensive experience in program management, facilitation, and executive coaching.

Qualifications

- M.A., Organizational Development, Sonoma State University, Rohnert Park, CA
- B.A., Psychology, Dominican University, San Rafael, CA
- Coach, Academy of Leadership Coaching & NLP